SINGAPORE'S PARTICIPATION AT WORLDSKILLS COMPETITION SERIES

Overview of WorldSkills Competition

Over 60 years, the WorldSkills Competition (WSC), organised by WorldSkills International, has come to symbolise the pinnacle of excellence in skilled trades and technologies training.

Every two years, hundreds of young skilled people, accompanied by their teachers, coaches and trainers, gather from around the world, to compete in the skills of their various trades and test themselves against demanding international standards. They represent the best of their peers drawn from regional and national skills competitions.

First introduced as a national skills competition in Madrid, Spain, in 1947, to raise the image of vocational training in the country, the WSC became an international competition in 1950 with two participating countries – Spain and Portugal.

From an initial 12 competitors, the Competition has since grown to attract close to 1,300 competitors from more than 60 countries/regions, competing in over 50 skills areas at this year's Competition. It has been hosted by numerous cities and countries around the world, including Dublin (Ireland), Glasgow (UK), Brussels (Belgium), Amsterdam (the Netherlands), Lyon (France), Montreal (Canada), Seoul (South Korea), St Gallen (Switzerland), Helsinki (Finland), Shizuoka (Japan), Calgary (Canada), London (UK), Leipzig (Germany) and most recently São Paulo (Brazil).

The experience and results gained through participating in the WSC provide valuable feedback both to the individual competitors and to their training organisations. For some, it is recognition for outstanding achievement, while for others, it provides the motivation and knowledge to aspire to higher standards. Many competitors have gone on to do well in their careers. For the onlookers, it is an eye-opening experience to see highly competent young skills talents in action. The Competition is particularly effective in the context of providing positive career role models for school-aged youths.

About WorldSkills International

WorldSkills International (WSI) is a not-for-profit membership association, open to agencies or bodies, which have a responsibility for promoting vocational education and training in their respective countries/regions. There are currently 77 Member countries and regions. WSI operates worldwide and is politically and denominationally neutral. The WSI Secretariat is currently located in Amsterdam, the Netherlands.

WSI provides a unique means of exchange and comparison of world-class competency standards in the industrial trades and service sectors of the global economy. The continued growth of WorldSkills attests to the fact that traditional trade and craft skills, along with the newer technology multi-skilled vocations, make an essential contribution to the economic and social well-being of people everywhere.

As a free-standing, non-political organisation, WSI provides a cost-effective means for international government and industry cooperation in achieving higher standards and status for vocational education and training on a worldwide basis.

Singapore's Participation in WSC

ITE's participation in WorldSkills was initiated in 1992, when then-Prime Minister Goh Chok Tong, at the inauguration of ITE as a post-secondary education institution, suggested that ITE raise the image of technical education and profile of skilled professions by taking part in international skills competitions.

In 1993, ITE joined WorldSkills International, a non-profit organisation whose mission is to promote the image of skills and skilled careers through competitions and exchanges for youths. In 1994, ITE organised the first National Skills Competition (now known as WorldSkills Singapore Competition) and led the first Singapore team to participate in the WSC in 1995 held in Lyon, France.

Eleven WorldSkills Singapore (WSS) Competitions have since been organised biennially by ITE, in conjunction with the Polytechnics. The WSS is open to Singaporeans (not older than 21 years old) from secondary schools, Junior Colleges, Polytechnics, ITE, companies and other institutions of higher learning. Top medal winners from the WSS are then selected to represent Singapore at the WSC. The last WSS Competition was held in July 2016.

In 2008, Singapore took part in the ASEAN Skills Competition, a regional version of the WSC, for the first time. The last ASEAN Skills Competition was held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, in September 2016.

At the 43rd WSC in São Paulo, Brazil, in 2015, our competitors achieved a record number of Medals and Medallions for Excellence in 17 out of the 20 skills areas it participated in. The Team clinched One Silver Medal, Two Bronze Medals and 14 Medallions for Excellence.
